Maximizing Learning in the Primary French Classes with Limited Time Allocation

Kathy MacFarlane will lead teachers through strategies to maximize the use of the limited time French teachers have with primary classes. Kathy will cover the applications of the Early Years Literacy programme for Primary LOTE teachers, running group-based activities and including ICT activities into the programme using freeware French Version software that is readily available on the Internet.

Kathy Macfarlane holds a Masters' Degree in Applied Linguistics for which she completed a major thesis on bilingual education, and a Bachelor's Degree in Teaching (Primary and Secondary). After a number of years teaching ESL in France, she has taught as both a generalist Prep classroom teacher and a French teacher from Prep - Year 7 in Australia. Since 2005, she has been responsible for developing a content-based French programme at Ruyton Girls'

Junior School, in which students study Information Technology through French.
